

PROGRESSIVES SUPPORT HUGHES LEADERS AFFIRM

HENRY ALLEN, KANSAS LEADER, THINKS ROOSEVELT WILL AID REPUBLICANS.

HUGHES' CAMPAIGN STARTED

Non-Partisan League Revived in New York—Candidate in the Metropolis.

APPROVE HUGHES.

Chicago, June 12—George von L. Meyer, who supported Roosevelt for the republican nomination, today approved Hughes letter of acceptance.

ALLEN WITH HUGHES.

St. Louis, June 12—Henry Allen, the Kansas progressive leader, who is here as a newspaper correspondent and who yesterday announced his support of Hughes, today expressed the belief that Roosevelt will also take an active part in the Hughes campaign. Victor Murdock, he said, was most prominently suggested to succeed Roosevelt as the standard bearer if the Colonel refuses.

Allen said: "If Roosevelt declines the nomination I will vote for Mr.
Hughes rather than some lesser leader of the progressives. Hughes' statement seems to meet the situation."

New York, June 12—The first organized political move in the campaign for Charles Evans Hughes, nominated by the republican national convention Saturday for the presidency, was announced today upon the arrival of the candidate from Washington.

It is the revival of the Hughes Alliance, an organization of republicans, democrats and independent voters, which came into existence during the second campaign of Mr. Hughes for governor of New York in 1908. The announcement of the revival of the Alliance was made by Public Service Commissioner Whitney, who met Hughes at the train at 7 o'clock this morning and accompanied him to the Hotel Astor, where the candidate has established headquarters.

Nation-Wide Move.

Whitney said the Hughes Alliance will work under the name of Hughes Non-Partisan League. Hughes conferred with Hitchcock, Gov. Whitman and others, and asked whether it was so that Roosevelt had declined the progressive nomination. Hughes said, "I have nothing to say at this time. I came primarily to make plans for the summer." On the ferry boat the candidate was recognized by commuters, but there was no demonstration.

Will Co-operate.

Whitney said the Non-Partisan League will co-operate with the regular republicans. Hughes received local republicans and newspaper men, posed for moving picture camera operators and had a conference with George W.
Wickersham this morning. Wickersham refused to discuss rumors that he is acting as mediator to obtain pro-

Hughes Pronouncement Of Faith Rings With Americanism

In accepting the republican nomination for the presidency, Charles Evans Hughes, former Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, outlined his views on current questions in a statement which leaves little to be desired, even by the most radical progressives. He wired the Chicago convention:

Washington, D. C., June 10.
To Senator Warren G. Harding, Chairman Republican National Convention, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Chairman and Delegates:
I have not desired the nomination.
I have wished to remain on the bench.
But in this critical period of our national history I recognize that it is my paramount duty to respond. You speak at a time of national exigency, transcending merely partisan considerations. You voice the demand for a dominant, thorough-going American-ism with protective upbuilding policies essential to our peace and security; and to that call, in this crisis, I cannot fail to answer with the pledge of all that is in me to the service of the country. Therefore I accept the nomination.

I stand for the firm and unflinching maintenance of all the rights of American citizens on land and sea. I neither impugn motives nor underestimate difficulties. But it is most regrettably true that in our foreign relations we have suffered incalculably been stripped of their force by indecision which has been taken with regard to Mexico—a course lamentably wrong with regard to both our rights and our duties. We interfered without consistency; and while seeking to dictate when we were not concerned, we utterly failed to appreciate and discharge our plain duty to our own citizens.
At the outset of the administration the high responsibilities of our diplomatic intercourse with foreign nations.

Japs Were Part Of Mexican Gang Who Raided Ranch

American Cowboys, Who Were Captured, Escaped—Tell Their Story

WANTED TO HANG GRINGOS

BULLETIN.

Washington, June 12—Increasing excitement and anti-American feeling with indifference on the part of Carranza officials in northern Mexico, have been reported to the state department.

Laredo, June 12—George Conover, the American cowboy who was captured with Arthur Meyers by bandits yesterday, who raided the Coleman ranch, escaped and arrived here today after a trip of 30 miles afoot.

The band, which was composed of five Mexicans and two Japs, tried to hustle 80 horses across the border.
Conover said the Mexicans treated him well but the Japs, who were later captured by Carranza troops, wanted to hang him. The bandits left the two Americans in a secluded place to await their return, and Conover and Meyers took flight.

San Antonio, June 12—The third American punitive expedition was ordered into Mexico following the long-expected raid into Zapata County, Texas.

The main body of Mexican bandits, probably under the leadership of Luis de la Rosa himself, crossed the Rio Grande at Hidalgo, thirty miles from Laredo. They rounded up eighty horses and drove them back across the border. No shots were fired and no casualties occurred.

General Funston, on receipt of the news, immediately ordered a cavalry detachment to pursue the bandits across the border, the third punitive expedition sent in Mexico since the Columbus raid.

EVANS CARNIVAL CO. HERE FOR WEEK STAY

SHOWS ARRIVED SUNDAY—WILL SHOW AT GEDNEY PARK IN DEMENTTOWN.

AUSPICES DIXON LODGE MOOSE

Feature Attractions and Royal Italian Band Have Made Good Everywhere.

The Ed. A. Evans Greater Shows arrived in this city Sunday afternoon for a week's stay, under the auspices of the Local Order of Moose.

The Evans shows come here very highly recommended by officials and committees from the various towns they have visited in the past three years, and have an enviable reputation in the show world as a good, clean, moral and refined organization where the most fastidious person may attend any of the attractions without fear of being offended in any manner whatever.

The feature attraction and one that has created a furore wherever exhibited is the monster Silodrome where daredevil riders race around a perpendicular wall at the rate of eighty miles an hour, performing seemingly impossible feats and at the same time defying the laws of gravitation by riding a motorcycle on a straight wall.

Ten shows and three riding devices are offered for public inspection by the Evans company, including the following: Prof. Van's educated horse show, Billy Warren's Musical Maids, Hereafter, Luna, Southland, Gazizzy, Wonderland, Athletic show, Days of '49 and the Big Ten in One show.

Prof. Bind's Royal Italian band rendered a concert of popular music on the down town streets this noon that was appreciated by a large audience. This band is one of the best carnival bands in the business, composed of real musicians. Their daily concerts are eagerly watched for by music lovers.

The shows will all be in readiness for the opening tonight at 7:30 and the Moose carnival will receive its first real impetus. Good weather is needed to make the week one of gallery. The Moose lodge members have worked hard to make the engagement a success and all indications point to their efforts being rewarded.

The Queen contest being conducted in conjunction with the carnival has settled into a hard fought contest among the many contestants and it is expected that many surprises will feature the event before the closing time. The contest will end at 9:30 Wednesday night at the grounds.
Votes will be accepted at the booth until the above named time, after which the committee will count the votes and name the successful contestant.

SPEEDER RAN RIGHT INTO COP

Officer Whetstein Was On the Job and Young Fellow Paid Fine.

Since the withdrawal of Motorcycle Officer Tippet, speeders have taken liberties and in many instances violated the city ordinances in regard to motor vehicle traffic.

Although without the services of a regular motorcycle officer it was demonstrated Friday night that it is not safe to speed within the city limits.
A young fellow who is quite a speed king "cut loose" on Third street, but Officer Whetstein was in that vicinity.
He stopped the speeder and took him to the station. Saturday morning the young fellow was taken before Judge Hanneken and fined $5 and costs.

THREE HURT AS AUTO PLUNGED OVER BANK

MR. AND MRS. A. S. DERR AND MRS. L. F. REDFERN SUFFER BROKEN BONES.

MAN AND BABY ESCAPED

Car Turned Over Twice, Alighting On Its Top After a Drop of Eight Feet.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Derr, 211 First street and Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Redfern and baby, 416 Jackson avenue, had narrow escapes from death or serious injury late Sunday afternoon when Mr. Derr's big Mitchell automobile, in which they had spent the afternoon driving, slid off the Pine Creek road between Wragg Corners and Clyde Cortright farm and plunged down an eight-foot embankment, turning over twice. Only the fact that the top was up saved the occupants from more serious injury.

Mr. Derr suffered a broken shoulder blade, his wife sustained a broken rib, and Mrs. Redfern, who was the most seriously injured, suffered two fractured ribs and collar bone.
Mr. Redfern and the baby escaped with a few scratches and bruises.

Bank Gave Way.

The accident was caused by the edge of the roadway giving way under the weight of the car. The highway is narrow at this point and as Mr. Derr drove his car to one side the earth and gravel pushed outward. Instantly the big car slid over the edge, turned over twice and alighted on its top.

Harry Hintz was quickly summoned from his garage, and after righting the car was able to drive it through a field to the road under its own power. The injured ones were taken to the Dixon hospital, where it is stated their hurts are not serious.

YOUNG MUSICIAN IS WELL KNOWN IN DIXON

COUSIN OF WEBSTER POOLE HAS BEEN HONORED BY GUILD OF ORGANISTS.

The following from the Youngstown, O., Telegram will be of interest to many Dixon people who met Miss Laurabelle Parkin of that city during her visit at the home of her cousin, Webster Poole of this city, about two years ago. Miss Parkin will spend some time in Dixon the coming summer:

Miss Laurabelle Parkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parkin, West Raven avenue, is one of the youngest organists to be admitted to the American Guild of Organists, this honor having been conferred upon her at the close of three examinations in connection with her graduation Thursday from the Guilman school, New York City. Not only did New York papers speak of her as the "star of the class" but the school faculty pronounced her as having achieved more than any one else in the history of the school. Election to the American Guild of Organists, which carries a degree, is only attained through high grades, such being Miss Parkin's distinction during his whole two years' study in New York.

Six Cigars Clue Of Police In Arrest Of Alleged Thief

Hugh McKay Jr. Held Under $350 Bonds—Evidence Is Circumstantial

WINDOW AT KLING'S BROKEN

Hugh McKay Jr. was arraigned in Justice Hanneken's court this morning charged with robbery, specifically breaking into Downing's grocery store Saturday night, his hearing being continued until Monday morning, June 19. The young fellow's bonds were placed at $2350.

It is believed by the authorities that McKay is the fellow who has been perpetrating a number of minor robberies here recently, and that in addition to breaking into Downing's store Saturday night he attempted an entrance to Kling's jewelry store. It was the attempted burglary of the jewelry store that led to McKay's apprehension.

A broken window at Kling's attracted the attention of County Treasurer John E. Moyer and the barbers at Wilhelm's shop. They notified the officers and an investigation was at once started and McKay was found seated on steps in the Opera House alley. He attempted to escape but was captured and told a number of conflicting stories. It was because his stories were not in accord with evidence that he was taken to the police station.

Later the robbery of Downing's grocery was discovered and it was found cigars had been taken. Despite McKay's efforts to hide his cigars in his cell at the jail, six cigars—all he had—were found and they were the same brand as those stolen from the grocery store. On this circumstantial evidence the young fellow was arraigned this morning.

penses of jurors in the Inlet swamp drainage cases, in which he holds that juror's expenses may not exceed $3 per day. The report of Probation Of-the coming year were adopted, and

Carload Of Peonies Shipped

From Five Oaks Nursery, Dixon

One of the most beautiful sights in Dixon is the two-acre field of peonies —nearly seventy varieties—of all sizes and colors at the Five Oaks nursery of Robin S. Hartwell, 947 North Crawford avenue. A great deal of time and money has been spent in securing and cultivating these plants, the greater number being imported from Holland. Nearly twelve years have been required to acquire the present wonderful growth of plants.
Mr. Hartwell has the cultivation of peonies down to a point of scientific and commercial perfection and every day ships thousands of the buds to Chicago and St. Louis florists, for in

ELECTROCUTION FATE OF TWO MEN THIS MORN

FRANK GARRISON AND EDWARD HAMILTON INSTANTLY KILLED IN STONE QUARRY.

GOT CHARGE OF 33,000 VOLTS

Guy Wire On Drill Touched I. N. U.
Dixon-Freeport High Tension Line.

Frank Garrison and Edward Hamilton, employes of Duffy & Hubbard, were electrocuted at 8 o'clock this morning at their employers' stone quarry north of the Borden milk factory, when a guy wire to a large drill which they were moving came in contact with the Illinois Northern Utilities company's high tension line from Dixon to Freeport.

Thirty thousand volts of electricity shot through their bodies and death was instantaneous in each case.

Standing On Machine.
The two victims of the tragedy with Alonzo Hubbard and Will Stevens were preparing for the day's work in the quarry and were moving a big drill into position to make holes for new blasts to have been fired today.
Horses had been hitched to the machine and were drawing it into its new position. Hamilton stood on the drill holding to a heavy iron rod and Garrison walking beside it steadied it with a guy wire.

Brushed High Tension Line.

It is said both men knew of the presence of the high tension line, which passes over the quarry, and of the great danger that lurked in its high voltage, but for an instant the guy wire brushed the heavily charged wire and in that instant the death dealing current shot down the guy wire and through the machine and the bodies of both men. Each victim was killed instantly, while the horses hitched to the drill were knocked to their knees by the shock.

Hubbard Had Escape.

Mr. Hubbard had a very narrow escape from meeting the same tragic fate. He had been holding a guy wire on the other side of drill until just a moment before the accident, dropping it to give attention to the horses.
Less than a minute after he had let go of the wire the charge came and his two employes were killed.

Inquest Late Today.

Coroner Stephan was notified of the accident and will arrive in Dixon late this afternoon to conduct the inquest, which will be held at Mrs.
Jones' undertaking rooms, to which place the bodies were taken this morning.

Obituary.

Frank Garrison was born in Nachusa township May 12, 1883. He lived in that vicinity and in Dixon all his life. He was married to Miss Sta-nia Sarkonile of this city on Feb. 3, 1916. Beside his wife he leaves to mourn his death two brothers, George of Pasadena, Cal., and Charles of Nachusa, and five sisters, Mrs. Emma Remely of Dixon and Mrs. Emma Broods, Mrs. Harry Heckman, Mrs.
Rilla Gibbs and Mrs. Lizzie Scheep, all of whom reside in Plainfield, Ia.
Funeral arrangements will be published later.

Edward Hamilton was born in the state of Kansas in 1874.

Mrs. G. E. Rynearson was a passenger to Chicago Friday.

These cities there is greater demand for peonies than for either roses or carnations.
When they are about the size of a rose, they are wrapped in packages containing a dozen buds, and when placed in cold storage will keep for two or more months; on being taken out of the cold they soon burst forth in full bloom. The peony season will last about six weeks, the varieties being selected to provide succession of blossoms, and during the period over from the Dixon nursery.

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash" EARLY RISING.

Early rising is one of the most virtues, and it only extends to the cold bath, the meatless meal, and the Wagner opera, is a very fine thing when one gets used to it.

Early rising has been practiced diligently for many centuries by industrious men. This is especially true in the country. The farmer who lolls in bed and allows the sun to rise without calling it personally, is regarded with scorn by his neighbors. One hour of work on the cool dewy farm between three and four a. m. is worth three hours of any occupation after supper, and the man who would win the confidence of the soil must finish his breakfast in time to go out and wake up the roosters. The rural population of the land has been decreasing steadily for many years, which is a great mystery.

In the city people do not rise so early owing to the excellent facilities for consuming electric current and other things at night. In New York City, the business man rises in the midriff of the morning and gets down to his office in time to make an engagement for luncheon. Owing to this great sloth New York's growth

There are, however, a great many people in New York and other cities, who not only see the sun rise every morning, but bid it an affectionate good-night a little later. These people are not highly regarded, however, and are pointed out even by farmers as horrible examples.

Everyone is anxious to rise early, but the great difficulty in accomplishing the feat prevents it from becoming a popular fad. To rise at four one should clamp an alarm clock firmly to the ear, and leave a call for the fire department. To induce a boy to rise early, removed the bed from under him and soak him for thirty minutes in clear, cold water.

Early rising clears the brain, tones up the muscles, increases the appetite and ruins theatres and taxicab companies. Nothing is so beautiful as Nature when it is waking for the day, and every man should cherish two ambitions—to see the Grand Canyon and the world at sunrise. Both will bear watching several times.

SPORTING NOTES

Chicago, June 10—Ty Cobb has climbed into a tie for second place among the batters of the American league, according to averages printed here and including games played on Wednesday. The trio of Southerners who have been fighting for leading honors for years are bunched at the top again, for Speaker is leading with .369 and Jackson and Cobb are neck and neck at .327. Speaker also leads in runs scored, with 35, and in total bases with 88. Cobb is one of a quartet leading in base stealing, he, Ray Schalk, Chicago; Walsh, Philadelphia, and sister, St. Louis, having 12 each. Grane, Cleveland, leads with four home runs. National League.

Veterans are setting the pace for batters in the National league. Daubert maintains his lead and Schulte hangs onto second place, with Robertson and Zimmerman having passed Doyle, Binnie Kauff, the Federal league all round star, has at last cut loose on the bases and with a record of 16 thefts has tied Max Carey of Pittsburgh for the first time. Williams, Chicago, is still the pace setter for the home run hitters with seven, and with Zimmerman is tied for total bases with 91. New York leads in team hitting with .264. Groh, Cincinnati, is ahead in runs scored with 32.

The National 300 hitters are: Daubert, Brooklyn, .355; Schulte, Chicago, .339; Robertson, New York, .336; Zimmerman, Chicago, .335; Doyle, New York, .327; Chase, Cincinnati, .321; Gonzales, St. Louis, .320; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, .319; Meyers, Brooklyn, .311; Wheat, Brooklyn, .310; Cravath, Philadelphia, .302; Burns, Philadelphia, .300.

Cleveland—The Cleveland Americans have asked for waivers of Pitcher Grover Lowdermilk and Catcher Tom Daly, though it is said the latter may be retained by the Indians after all. Manager Fohl is not anxious either to see Lowdermilk go with another American League, as he was always effective against Cleveland, and will try to trade him to a National League club. Daly, gained fame when as a member of the world touring White Sox he showed the king of England what a home run is.

Detroit—Mayor Oscar Marx, an enthusiast of outdoor sports, has taken official cognizance of a concerted movement for a municipal golf links in Detroit. He has promised to discuss the matter with the city park commissioner.

East Lansing, Mich.—Frank Sommer, the new director of athletics at Michigan Agricultural college, recently made a trip here from the east, and talked football with candidates for the 1916 eleven. He seemed pleased with the prospects for another championship team.

Cleveland—Johnny Kibane, champion featherweight, has about decided to decline an offer to join the Yankee boxers traveling to Buenos Ayres just because he would rather stay home with his children. He was offered $7,500 to make the trip and take part in a battle in the Argentine capital, but doesn't believe he can take his family along and doesn't want to leave them.

Detroit—July 24th, opening day of the Blue Ribbon harness meeting, will be known as Club day. The 2:15 pace, the Detroit Athletic club purse, will be for $1,000. The 2:10 trot, the Detroit Country club, will have a $1,200 purse attached and the 2:18 trot, also for 1,200, will be called the Detroit club purse.

Cleveland—William, 1:58 1-2, is being groomed by Charles Tanner to break the pacing record "in the open" of 1:56 3-4 set by his rival, Dialectum I. William is now owned by C. K. G. Billings, who, it is said here, will not race the horse except against time.

Detroit—Great interest is being shown in the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club's horse show, June 16th and 17th. A large indoor riding ring is being built on the club's property. The building will be of steel, concrete and glass and it is expected it will be used for riding throughout the winter. Another show may be held next winter.

RESTA IS VICTOR IN CHICAGO AUTO DERBY

Goes 300 Miles in 3:23:16.5, World's Record.

Chicago, June 12.—Dario Resta won the fastest 300-mile race ever driven by automobiles at Speedway Park in 3 hours 23 minutes and 31.65 seconds, a speed of 88.61 miles an hour.

Ralph De Palma had the race well in hand and started out to push the last six miles at a speed never before seen in actual contest when the old-time hoodoo which has wrested four other races from him when he was all but at the goal broke a spring on his motor and took the laurel wreath from his brow.

Undaunted, he disconnected the cylinder affected and sped around the course on the other three and won second place and its $5,000 prize. The 93,000 persons, who saw the race, made up the greatest crowd ever gathered for an athletic contest in Chicago since the aviation meets and greater than any actual count on any other American auto course.

AMERICAN AIR MEN WITH FRENCH HONORS

ARE AT HOME ANYWHERE—GET SAME TREATMENT AS THE FRENCH AVIATORS.

ACCEPTANCES IS A COURTESY

France Has No Need for Foreign Aviators, But Yankees Are All Taken.

(The Associated Press)

Headquarters of Franco-American Flying Corps, French Front, May 13.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—American aviators in the service of France, now stationed here, are subject to the same discipline as the French soldier and the same promotions and recompenses are open to them, while their duties are in every way as onerous and arduous. The only difference in their treatment is an obvious deference that originates in French courteous hospitality. They are at home everywhere.

When they are in Paris they have comfortable accommodations at 15 Avenue des Champs Elysees, the headquarters of the Franco-American flying flotilla, and are entertained by friends as much as they can stand. When they were training at Pau they were housed like good paying tourists and feasted as much as was good for them. In their own training camp at Avord, near Bourges, there is more business than feasting, but they are quite content with the bungalow life such as appeals to adventurous spirits.

Here in the field, at a point that must remain anonymous, they have a post of honor; that is to say, a post where dangers are thick—but where, between flights, they enjoy the comforts of home with the luxury of hot spring baths to which the cohorts of Caesar gave the first publicity.

Little advantages of this sort that the American enjoy are typical of the present feeling of cordiality toward the United States in France. Their admission to the flying corps was itself an exception. France has no need of foreign aviators and the first offers from abroad were refused. Americans are accepted, therefore, purely as a courteous exception to the rule, taking the places of just as many disappointed French applicants.

Another important discrimination in favor of the American volunteer is that, if he is found incompetent in the flying corps, his enlistment is cancelled.

The waiting period for the American volunteer is not long, for he is an apt pupil and gets through the eight different classes of instruction in a month's time.

He begins training on a 25-horse power machine with shortened wings and which cannot rise from the ground; he learns the use of the motor, control of the lever, etc., as one learns to drive a motor car. Then he passes to a 35-horse-power machine before trying a straight-away flight in a machine that is justable to lift itself from the earth. Next the pupil begins more serious work with straight flights in a high-power six-cylinder machine that can rise a hundred feet. Then come circular flights around the aerodrome itself.

The pupil begins to take greater heights and enlarges his circuits on a 50-horse power machine, in the sixth class, and in the seventh he takes cross country flights with an 80-horse power motor and at a height of 500 yards.

The eighth class is really what may be called the pupils' graduating examination. An hour's flight at 2000 yards, a cross-country triangular flight with two landings at different heights with two landings at different heights within 48 hours, then three direct flights to different points and return.

It is only at the front, in actual warfare, however, that the airman can give the finishing touches to his preparation and show whether he is equal to the supreme test. Here the flights may be pre-arranged but cannot always be carried out according to schedule. The pilot must be ready to meet the unexpected and accomplish tasks with known and unknown dangers always awaiting him and here is where the American ready initiative and coolheadedness come out strong.

None of the Americans has accounted for as many adversaries as Garros Gilbert, Pegoud, Guynemer, or Navarre, but their services are none or less appreciable. Their recompenses and citations in the orders of the day are not for spectacular performances but for "courage," "coolness," "audacity," "presence of mind as pilots" and efficient regular work in bombarding expeditions.

Lieutenant William Shaw, of Pittsburgh, earned his stripes by particularly good observation work, while the efficiency of Elliott Cowdin, of New York, has been shown in bombarding expeditions in the course of which he has accounted for two German machines, earning two citations in the orders of the army and two palms on the ribbon of his war cross.

Sergeant Norman Prince of Prides Crossing, Mass., has earned a citation for carrying out bombarding missions with a stubborn disregard for German shrapnel. Corporal Victor Chapman, of New York; Corporal J. M. McConnell of Carthage, N. C., and Sergeant Hall of Galveston, Tex., have seen less service and had less action, but have shown their skill as pilots.

Corporal Kiffin Rockwell, of Atlanta, Ga., was up in the hurricane that carried away twenty French captive balloons, and with a machine that is ceranqu enough in quiet weather. One gust turned him completely around.

McConnell and Chapman came very cleverly out of a heavy fire by German anti-aircraft guns. Shells burst all around McConnell at a high altitude.

Chapman, separated from the rest of the flotilla, with his gasoline almost exhausted, managed to get back to camp with a machine on which it is dangerous to lose speed—and consequently serious to get out of fuel.

"One of the best proofs of the Americans' good flying," said Captain H—, in whose group the Americans are now operating, "is that they 'break little wood'—an aviation term meaning damaging machines.

No accidents worth mentioning have happened to them since the beginning of their training.

The hard school of war, which, alone, can give the experience necessary to equip men for military aviation, is developing pilots here of the highest order largely for the benefit of the United States. The Franco-American Corps will furnish officers and instructors capable of rapidly constituting the flying corps that may one day be needed in America.

Germans Take More Guns.

Berlin, June 12.—Violent artillery fighting is in progress on both sides of the River Meuse, north of the French fortress of Verdun, according to the German official statement. The Germans have added three cannon and seven machine guns to the booty taken by them on the east bank of the Meuse.

ROCHELLE

Rochelle, June 10th.—The scientific Society of the high school had another "big time," Monday, when they were entertained by their president, R. M. Ladd at a "Mushroom feed." About twenty members of the society and the faculty, consumed ten pounds of the Micaceous Co-Princes which Mr. Ladd considered one of the finest fungi which grows. Seeley says he does not like the inky little toadstools but Cratty made up for him by cleaning up the fourth helping. Mr. Ladd has willd his interest in the "live" stumps in or near Rochelle, to the society as he does not expect to return next year.

John Craft, Walter Thorp, Harold Neff and Miss Gladys Smith are home from the University of Illinois for their summer vacation. Miss Gladys Smith who will finish domestic science next year, has been elected rushing captain of Sigma Kappa, the sorority to which she belongs.

Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition?

To the People:

The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition in armor-making ineffective.

The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. That would have made competition effective.

The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need.

The Government in fact has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them.

Armor makers serve but one customer—the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer—a community.

The solution of the public utility problem is regulation of rates.

The solution of the armor problem is for the Government to fix the price.

We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government?

Tigan-Réal

The following account of the Tigan-Réal wedding which occurred in Sterling Saturday will interest many Dixon people:

Sterling Gazette: A wedding which will take from the city one of her most popular young ladies occurred at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's church, Rev. Father A. J. Burns reading the service which united the lives of Miss Margery Real of this city and Arthur T. Tigan of Rochelle. The ceremony of today was the first church wedding of the month and was one of the prettiest nuptial events St. Mary's church has witnessed for many months. A large crowd of relatives and friends were present at the church while a company of forty-five guests were invited to the reception at the home.

Mrs. M. C. Ward played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the church and advanced to the altar and played the recessional as they left the church. Miss Marion Kahler of Rochelle, a cousin of the groom, sang the nuptial music, singing the Latin Ave Maria and "Because" by D'Hardlot. Miss Marie Hayes of Rochelle played her accompaniment.

Miss Bess Twihig of Chicago attended the bride as bridesmaid while the bride's brother, Mr. Harry Real, of this city was best man. The general color scheme of the wedding, lavender and white, was carried out in the gowns of the bridal party. The bride wore a handsome model of white silk net over white taffeta. Her veil was caught with a wreath of smilax and her flowers were a shower of white roses. Miss Twihig wore a beautiful gown of lavender silk net over pink. Her hat was of black lace and her flowers were pink and lavender sweet peas.

Following the ceremony the guests went to the Real home on East Seventh street where a breakfast was served at 10 o'clock. The breakfast was daintily served in three courses, Mrs. George Thomas catering and the following friends of the bride served: Miss Anna Kilday, Miss Clara Valle of Dixon, and the bride's sister, Miss Mildred Real. Lavender and pink made the home a bower of beauty. Bands of crepe paper in the prevailing colors were stretched from the sides of the rooms to the center chandelier from ball. Quartette tables were placed in the parlor and living room, while the bride's table was arranged in the dining room. Sweet peas were the center piece of each table and he unit cups were pretty designs the two colors. A wedding bell hung over the bride's table and the center piece was a large low bowl of sweet peas and smilax. Many handsome gifts were presented to the bride and groom and they were on display in the reception hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Tigan left on the 11 o'clock train on their honeymoon which will include a trip to Detroit, Mich., and Niagara Falls. After July 1 they will be at home in Rochelle where their home is all ready for their return. The bride's traveling suit was of black and grey striped taffeta and she wore a large pink hat.

The bride of today has many friends in the two cities who will be interested in her marriage. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Real and has always made her home in this city. She is a graduate of the Sterling township high school and for the past year had been employed at the J. K. Chester store. She is prominent in St. Mary's parish and will take good wishes from many friends with her to her new home. Mr. Tigan is the son of Mrs. Frank Tigan of Rochelle and since graduating from the Rochelle high school has been employed in the post office there. He has many friends and congratulatory to him.

The following out-of-town guests were here for the ceremony: Miss Mercedes Neahaus, Miss Bess Twihig of Chicago; City Attorney and Mrs. R. G. Real of Mattoon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. John Kahler, Miss Mae Kahler, Miss Marion Kahler, Misses Helen and Marie Hayes and Mrs. Frank Tigan of Rochelle; Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan of Chicago and the Misses Clara Valle and Lucile Jones of Dixon.

PRETTIEST GIRL WEDS.

MRS. "WINNIE" SHEEHAN.

Broadway was startled the other day to learn that Miss Kay Laurell, one of the prettiest girls the theatrical world has ever produced, has married in London Winfield R. Sheehan, manager of the Fox Film Corporation and former secretary of the New York police department. Broadway did not even know popular "Winnie" Sheehan was more than an acquaintance of the beauty. Many artists have said Mrs. Sheehan was the most beautiful girl they have seen. For three years they have tried to paint her portrait.

Visit in Rockford

Mrs. A. C. Judd of Ohio and her hostess, Mrs. Clinton Judd, went to Rockford this morning where they will be the guests of Mrs. Fannie Eearney.

Children's Day in Churches

Beautiful were the services in many of the churches yesterday in celebrating the children's own day, and adults and children thronged the churches. As announced the day was observed in the First Presbyterian, St. Paul's Lutheran and Grace Evangelical in Dixon and the Zion Lutheran and St. James in South Dixon. Next Sunday will mark the observance of the day in the First Baptist church and in the Methodist Episcopal church, and others off the churches. Amid flowers plucked from many of the gardens of the city, the little human flowers, as they made their offerings of song and speech, seemed quite at home. The flag found its place, too, in many of the churches as a part of the decorations, voicing the patriotic feelings which are uppermost now.

Te decorations of the First Presbyterian were carried out in the colors—red, white and blue—white and red peonies and blue Fleur de Lis in great bouquets upon the platform while the "stars and stripes" were draped upon the organ. One of the many attractive features was the marching of the entire Sunday school led by two children carrying flags, each class headed by its teacher, and the entire column singing as they marched. The program was carried out as announced Saturday with few exceptions. The admission of a large class of beginners into the intermediate department and the presentation of diplomas by Mr. Holand, the pastor, made another pleasing feature. Dr. Holland's address was well calculated to interest the children as well as the adults.

St. Paul's, too, was crowded with parents and children and the program, was a very excellent one. A chorus of thirty-five hundred young people led the music. The program had been arranged by the superintendent of the Nachusa orphanage, the Rev. J. A. McCulloch of this city, and was used by a number of the Lutheran churches in this territory. The children largely participated in the exercises of the morning in recitation and song. The decorating had been placed in charge of Miss Eleanor Powell's class of young ladies and were exceedingly beautiful, great bunches of many varieties of peonies having been used in great profusion. The offering should not delay a minute, but take instant relief taken for the Nachusa orphan-holister's Rocky Mountain Tea now, age tested for the collection of You will wonder at its results. Rowland Bros.

The sick of the church when the services were over. Dr. Altman's address was upon the text, "What manner of child shall this be?" a question that interests not alone the home but the church and state. Dr. Altman spoke of the large number of children needing special help because of their condition and the home, the church, and the state try to co-operate to provide a good place for these children that they may know something, be something, and do something.

The Grace Evangelical church, though in a process of rebuilding which makes the holding of special services difficult, yet did not allow the day to pass unobserved and an unusually enjoyable program was given. Flowers were grouped about the base of the platform and here, too, flags were used in the decorating. The program given follows:

Red, white and blue formed the basis of the color scheme used in decorating the Zion Lutheran church of South Dixon for the Children's Day exercises held there Sunday evening. Glads were used in profusion. Flags were used in profusion and a flag drill in which the children, singing the "Star-Spangled Banner" as they marched and circled around a Maypole with red, white and blue streamers, formed a very pretty feature of the evening's program, which was given as follows:

tions were subordinated to a conception of partisan requirements, and we presented to the world a humiliating spectacle of ineptitude. Belated efforts have not availed to recover the influence and prestige so unfortunately sacrificed, and brave words have been and equipment in both army and casion.

Our desire is to see our diplomacy restored to its best standards and to have these advanced; to have no sacrifices of the national interest to partisan expediences; to have the first ability of the country always at its command here and abroad in diplomatic intercourse; to maintain firmly our rights under international law; insisting steadfastly upon all of our rights as neutrals and fully performing our international obligations, and by the clear correctness and justness of our position and our manifest ability and disposition to sustain them to dignify our place among the nations.

I stand for an Americanism that knows no ulterior purpose, for a patriotism that is single and complete.
Whether native or naturalized, of whatever race or creed, we have but one country and we do not for an instant tolerate any division of allegiance. I believe in making prompt provision to secure absolutely our national security. I believe in preparedness, not only entirely adequate for our own defense with respect to numbers an equipment in both army and navy, but with all thoroughness to the end that in each branch of the service there may be the utmost competent administrative heads devoted to the ideals of honorable peace.

We wish to promote all wise and practicable measures for the just settlement of international disputes. In view of our abiding ideals, there is no danger of militarism in this country.
We have no policy of aggression; no lust for territory; no zeal for strife.
It is in this spirit that we demand adequate provision for national defense, and we condemn the inexcusable neglect that has been shown in this matter of first national importance. We must have the strength which self-respect demands—the strength of an efficient nation ready for every emergency.

Our preparation must be industrial and economic as well as military. Our severest tests will come after the war is over. We must make a fair and wise readjustment of the tariff in accordance with sound protective principles to insure our economic independence and to maintain American standards of living.

We must conserve the just interests of labor, realizing that in democracy, patriotism and national strength must be rooted in even-handed justice. In preventing, as we must, unjust discriminations and monopolistic practices we must still be zealous to assure the foundation of honest business; particularly should we seek the expansion of foreign trade. We must not throttle American enterprise here or abroad but rather promote it and take pride in honorable achievements.

We must take up the serious problems of transportation of interstate and foreign commerce in a sensible and candid manner, and provide an enduring basis for prosperity by the intelligent use of the constitutional powers of Congress, so as adequately to protect the public on the one hand and, on the other, to conserve the essential instrumentalities of progress.

I stand for the principles of our civil service laws. In every department of the government the highest efficiency must be insisted upon. For all laws and programs are vain without efficient and impartial administration.

I cannot within the limits of this statement speak upon all the subjects that will require attention. I can only say that I fully endorse the platform you have adopted.

Daddy's Bedtime

Story—

How a Fox
Became a Fine Young Prince.

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

A LAD who set out to find a gold bird for his king, daddy began the bedtime story, "was fortunate enough to make friends with a fox, who helped him also find a gold horse and a lovely princess, which he had to give up to his king, who promised to give the lad the gold bird.
But on the way to the castle they met two rogues who were going to be hanged and who turned out to be the lad's own brothers. 'Can nothing save them?' cried the lad. The people told him he must buy their freedom.

"So the lad paid what the people asked, and his brothers set out for home along with him. Now, the day was very hot, and as they came to the woods where the fox had first met them they sat down by a brook to rest. The lad had forgotten that the fox had warned him not to sit down by a brook, you see, and while he thought of no harm his robber brothers crept up behind him, threw him down the bank, took the princess, the horse and the gold bird and rushed home to the king. 'See,' they cried; 'all this we have won for you!'

"Then the king made a feast, and the two brothers were welcomed home.
But the gold horse would not eat, the gold bird would not sing, and the lovely princess would do nothing but sit by herself in her chamber and weep.

"Now, what had happened to the youngest son, the lad who had found the bird? He fell to the bottom of the brook his brothers threw him in. No bones were broken, but the banks were so high he could not crawl out. As he was wondering what would become of him he glanced up, and there stood his friend, the fox. 'As foolish as you have been not to follow my advice I cannot bear to leave you in that brook bed. Grab a hold of my brush!'

"When the lad once more stood on the bank safe the fox said, 'Your brothers have set a watch to kill you if you go home.' So the lad dressed himself as a poor piper and went to the king's court playing on his pipe. But he was scarcely inside the gates when the gold horse began to eat, the gold bird began to sing, and the beautiful princess stopped weeping. The lad walked straight to the king and told him his brothers' roguery. The king had them locked up and gave the princess to the lad, who, after the king's death, married her and became the king.

"Soon after his marriage he met the fox walking in the woods. With tears in his eyes the fox begged the new king to cut off his head and his brush.
When the king did this it appeared that the fox turned into a prince, who was the princess' own brother. A spiteful fairy had once changed him into a fox, and the spell was only broken by some one getting the gold bird and cutting off the fox's head and brush," daddy ended.

I deeply appreciate the responsibility you impose. I should have been glad to have that responsibility placed upon another. But I shall undertake to meet it, grateful for the confidence you express. I sincerely trust that all former differences may be forgotten and that we may have united effort in a patriotic realization of our national need and opportunity.

I have resigned my judicial office and am ready to devote myself unreservedly to the campaign.

SLAVS CAPTURE 35,000 OF FOEAustrian Defeat Gains Proportions of Debarle.

108,000 ARE NOW PRISONERS

Entire Divisions Cut Off and Taken As Russians Drive on—Dubno Added to Lutsk by Victorious Armies—Enormous Quantities of Booty Fall Into Invaders' Hands.

Petrograd, June 12.—The Russian drive into Galicia, which began less than two weeks ago, has assumed the proportions of the greatest offensive movement of the war. Since the Czar's army began its advance in Volhynia toward the Strypa and Strypa rivers it has captured 108,000 men, the war office announces.

The surrender of 409 officers and 35,000 men in the fighting Saturday is reported, together with thirty guns and a great quantity of booty.

An army of 18,000 Austrians opposing General Techtshayn north of Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, was surrounded, overwhelmed by the Russian hosts and captured, says the official statement.

Austrian Line Flanked.

It is in this way that most of the prisoners taken by the Russians during the drive have been captured.
General Brusiloff's plan of campaign comprised the driving of a wedge into the Austrian line along the River Strypa, which forced a turning of the broken Austrian line and subjected it to flanking attacks delivered by thousands of Russian troops.

There were only two alternatives for the Austrian troops thus thrown into confusion; either to surrender or be put to the bayonet. It is significant that since the drive began the war office has not dwelt heavily on the Austrian casualties, but repeatedly tells of thousands of Austrian soldiers surrendering in whole detachments.

Fight in the Open.

The fighting has been among the most desperate of the war at some points, due principally to the fact that the terrific assaults of the Russians have driven the Austrians out of their trenches and forced them to fight in the open. Only two fortresses—Lutsk and Dubno—opposed themselves to the Russian advance, and they were stormed and captured with slight resistance. A large number of prisoners surrendered at Lutsk.

Austrians Admit Retreat.

Vienna, June 12.—The Austrian official communication admits the withdrawal of the Austrian forces before "a greatly superior enemy" in northeastern Bukovina, where the fighting is extraordinarily heavy.

Kisner of Terre Haute, Miss Mary Sheridan of Attica, Miss Agnes Phil-of Star City and Miss Helen Lee of Oxford for $1,000 damages each in the now famous Purdue hazing case, filed a motion in the Montgomery circuit court asking that the cases be dismissed. She set forth that her physical condition is not such that she would be able to withstand the trial.

Miss Rogers' original complaint was that the defendants had mistreated her in a dormitory at Purdue, where all were students at that time. She alleged that they painted her with red ink, stuck her with pins and threw her into a tub of water. One of the defendants in the original proceeding, Miss Mary Clark has since died.

WILL FIRST HEAR HUGHES

Progressive Convention Adjourns After Naming John H. Parker, of Louisiana, for Vice President—National Committee Meets June 25 to Name Leader if Roosevelt's Declination Is Final.

Chicago, June 12.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for president by the Progressive party at 12:35 p. m. amid cheers.

What promised to be a record demonstration for the colonel was checked by Chairman Raymond Robbins and the convention proceeded to finish up its work.

Roosevelt by Acclamation.

The nomination of Colonel Roosevelt came by acclamation when the Progressives learned that the Republicans had turned down all compromise offers and were proceeding to take a third ballot. Moose leaders claimed that the Roosevelt nomination came several minutes before the Hughes victory in the Republican convention.

Roosevelt's name was offered to the Progressive convention by Bainbridge Colby of New Jersey and the only seconding speech came from Governor Johnson of California.

The convention, after the nomination, recessed until 3 p. m.

Roosevelt's Declining Nomination.

When Colonel Roosevelt in Oyster Bay received notice of his nomination by the Progressive convention he telegraphed a letter to the Bull Moose party declining conditionally to head a third ticket.

His suggested in this letter that his conditional refusal to be the Progressive candidate be referred to the Progressive national committee and that if the committee should find Mr.
Hughes' statement of views satisfactory his declination of the Progressive nomination should be regarded definite. If the Hughes statement should be considered unsatisfactory Colonel Roosevelt said he would confer with the committee on "whatever action we may severally deem appropriate to meet the needs of the country."

Progressives Delay Action.

The Progressive national committee held a meeting Saturday night and elected officers, but did not pass on the suggestion made by Colonel Roosevelt or frame a reply to his letter.
The committee adjourned until June 25 when the conditional declination of the colonel will be considered.

NOVEL PACKAGE CABINET MADE

Protects Goods From Removal by Persons on the Outside.

Among new inventions recently patented is a device known as a double deck sanitary milk and grocery cabinet, that is a novel contrivance and a great convenience in dwellings.

It consists of a metallic box, telescoping to fit walls of different thicknesses, and designed to be built in, or fitted to houses already erected. The contrivance may be made in different sizes, but the model is about 12 inches in dimensions each way. On the outer door is a tray and when a bottle or parcel is placed within, the door is locked and cannot be released except from the inside. This done, the cabinet is ready for another delivery.

HE GETS GOLD FROM TAILINGS

Miners Interested in Process of Cali-

James A. Brent, who recently started an experimental plant at Sutter Creek, Cal., for treating the tailings from the mines of the neighborhood, has returned there after an absence of a few weeks, and intends prosecuting work in his line quite vigorously until mining men in the vicinity realize the value of his system for saving the values that are at present allowed to escape from the mills.

His plant is located at the foundry of the Knight Company, where he has made a number of demonstrations of interest to local mining men. His system has been worked most successfully, it is understood, at mines in Missouri, Arizona and Nevada.

SLEIGH RUNNERS FOR BUGGY

New Invention by an Iowa Veterinary Surgeon

Dr. William P. Bossenberger, a veterinary surgeon of Williams, Iowa, has just secured a patent upon sleigh runners for buggies which may be easily and quickly clamped to the axle of a buggy. The runners are so arranged that they absorb all shocks of traveling over uneven ground and keep a buggy from turning over when passing thru deep snow. The invention may be manufactured at small cost.

HAMMOCK FOR BABY IN AUTOS

Simple Contrivance for Use on Long Motor Trips.

A company at Seattle, Wash., recently has placed on the market a novel hammock, a simple contrivance to hold the baby on long motor trips.
It is made of strong materials and hooks from the robe rail on the back of the front seats to any projection at the back of the rear seat. Adjustable straps become springs which protect the baby from any jar, and the hammock is built throughout so that accident to the infant is impossible.

ST. LOUIS IS READY FOR THE DEMOCRATS

DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CONVENTION TO BE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED.

FIRST SESSION ON WEDNESDAY

(The Associated Press)
St. Louis, Mo., June 12.—Detailed plans for the entertainment of delegates and visitors at the Democratic National Convention here this week have been formulated. Under the auspices of the General Entertainment Committee, in connection with the Business Men's League, delegates and alternates will be taken on an automobile ride on the first day, June 14th.

Another afternoon the visitors will attend the ball game. From the ball park they will be taken on a river excursion, either on the steamer Grey Eagle or St. Paul. A buffet dinner will be served on the boat.

The Kentucky Society will treat its guests to an automobile ride and a dinner at an inn about twelve miles from the city. Other state clubs have established headquarters and applications for hotel room and so forth will be taken care of as well as possible. Most of the hotel space already has been taken, but the state organizations, especially the college and university contingent, are booking rooms in all places possible, even in private homes.

College clubs have made arrangements for several receptions during the convention, and have provided several entertainments which will savor of under-graduate days.

The hospitality of St. Louis will be extended, not only to delegates, but to visitors from other states who come here during convention week.

The various civic organizations of the city have been canvassed and to each has been assigned the entertainment of delegates and visitors from a specific state. Many of the various organizations who have automobiles will take the delegates and visitors from the specified states on an automobile tour of the parks and residence streets of the city.

On the night of June 13th—the night before the convention—the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York will give an outdoor production of Wagner's Siegfried. This will be staged in Robinson Field, the baseball park of the St. Louis Nationals.

On the night of Monday, June 12, the democratic national committee and the visiting newspaper men will be entertained at a reception at an inn a few miles outside the city. Automobile transportation will be provided for the guests.

CANDIDATES' MANAGERS ON THEIR JOBS IN CHICAGO.

JOSEPH B. KEALING
MANAGER FOR FAIRBANKS

FRANK H. HITCHCOCK MANAGER FOR HUGHES

JOHN W. DWIGHT
MANAGER FOR ROOT

Here you see George von L. Meyer of Boston, former secretary of the navy, at his desk in Chicago managing the Roosevelt campaign before the republican national committee. The colonel had another manager, George W. Perkins, but he operated only before the progressive convention. John W. Dwight, former congressman from New York, was the custodian of the campaign of Elihu Root, and Dwight is a very smooth politician. There is also Jos. B. Kealing of Indiana, who had the campaign of Charles Warren Fairbanks in storage. Frank H. Hitchcock of New York is believed to have had the boom of Justice Charles E. Hughes concealed about his person.

gressive support for the republican candidate.

Will Support Hughes.

After the conference Wiskersham said: "I have no political relations with Mr. Hughes on this occasion. I am supporting him, of course, and I think the progressives will support him. I do not expect Roosevelt to head a third party ticket, but that is merely guess work on my part."

Washington, June 12.—Newspaper men who had arranged to accompany Hughes to New York awoke this morning to find him gone. They were told at midnight he would probably start at 10 o'clock this morning, returning for the preparedness parade on Wednesday.

Washington, June 12.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for president, kept the Sabbath with accustomed care. Accompanied by his daughter, Miss Catherine, he walked to his regular place of worship, Calvary Baptist Church, where his friend and pastor, the Reverend Dr. S. H. Green, preached from the text "So run that you may obtain."

Mr. Hughes is expected in New York for a series of conferences regarding his campaign.

Frank H. Hitchcock, who managed Hughes' pre-convention campaign, is looked on as the logical selection for the post, but there are rumors here that Hitchcock is being actively opposed by the Taft forces, who supported Hughes for the nomination, and as a result Charles D. Hillies may be continued as the active director of the fall campaign.

There is much speculation here as to the character of the campaign. While there will be headquarters in New York and in Chicago, it is intimated that Mr. Hughes may determine to keep up his home here and general headquarters may be established in this city.

Nomination of Hughes.

Chicago, June 12.—Charles Evans Hughes, associate justice of the United States supreme court, was nominated for president by practically a unanimous vote in the Republican convention, although he persisted to the last in his policy of silence and refusal to seek the office, and although it was not known when he was named whether he would accept or decline the honor.

Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, running mate of Roosevelt in the landslide of 1904, was named for vice president. Mr. Fairbanks, had already sent a message asking his friends to withhold his name for the vice-presidency, but the unanimity of the convention's demand caused the withdrawal to be withheld, and after the convention named him Mr. Fairbanks yielded and accepted.

Theodore Roosevelt, refusing to accept Hughes as the fusion nominee of the two parties, was nominated for president by the Progressive national convention, which selected as its nominee for the vice presidency John M. Parker of New Orleans.

Instantly on receipt of telegraphic notice of his nomination Justice Hughes in Washington sent his resignation from the supreme court to President Wilson, and the president quite as promptly accepted it.

At the same time Justice Hughes dispatched to the Republican convention a telegram of acceptance, in which for the first time he broke his silence and set forth his attitude on the issues of the hour. The acceptance was communicated to the convention before it adjourned.

Name Notification Committee.

Chicago, June 12.—The new republican national committee held its first meeting immediately after the convention adjourned late on Saturday and authorized the appointment of a subcommittee to confer with Charles E. Hughes, the presidential nominee about the election of officers and the executive committee.

Former Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts presided. The following subcommittee was appointed: W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, Alvah H. Martin of Virginia, Charles B. Warren of Michigan, John T. Adams of Iowa, Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania, and James A. Hemenway of Indiana. Under the rules the executive committee will consist of twelve members.

Germans To Support Hughes.

Philadelphia, June 12.—J. B. Mayer, chairman of the Chicago German conference and leader in German-American Alliance, says 95 per cent of Germans will support Hughes, many of whom have heretofore been Democrats, and gives credit to Germans for Hughes nomination.

NELSON

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heling entertained the former's mother, Mrs. F. Heling of Union, Ill., Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips of homes of W. M. and H. W. Phillips for a few days.

The Nelson social circle which was postponed on account of the inclement weather of last week will be entertained Wednesday of this week at the home of Mrs. Joy Atkinson.

Mrs. J. B. Stitzel went to Chicago Saturday with the hopes of bringing her aunt, Mrs. H. L. McKinstry, home with her. She however found her in such a critical condition that her removal is impossible. It is thought by her physician that she can last but a short time. Mrs. Hollie Phillips of Rhoads, Ia., accompanied Mrs. Stitzel and they will remain until a change in Mrs. McKinstry's condition.

The entertainment given all last week in a tent, by Mr. and Mrs. Rapp was all that could be desired for a show of its kind. He can not be surpassed in slight of hand and verriquoism, and is an artist in his line, being ably assisted by his wife. It was a first class entertainment which will be more than pleased this week with their performances. They go from Harmon to Van Patten.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McIlmoyl will stay with his mother, Mrs. Robert McIlmoyl on the Dixon road, during the berry season and assist her

MRS. SUSAN TAYLOR DIED THIS MORNING

BELIEVED LADY PASSED AWAY AT 10 O'CLOCK—FUNERAL WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The many friends of Mrs. Susan L. Taylor will be grieved to learn of her passing away this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Cupp, of Lincoln avenue. She had been in ill health for some time but was always cheerful and happy to her friends and family. Tuesday she was compelled to give up and since then has been tenderly and lovingly cared for by her grand daughter, Persis Keith.

Susan L. Taylor was one of the five children of David and Rachel Spencer and was born in Pennsylvania April 17, 1841, being the last of her immediate family. She was married in 1860 to George Taylor at Oregon, Ill., going to live on a farm in Pamyra, the home of the family for many years; Mr. Taylor passed away in 1880. She leaves to mourn a mother's love, Henry of Dixon, Mary, wife of Charles E. Cupp, Dixon; Elizabeth Dexter, of Chicago; Nell, wife of Charles Keith, Sterling and Hattie, wife of Charles Barr of Peoria, one daughter dying when quite young.

Since her own home was given up she has divided her time between her daughters in Dixon and Sterling. Several years ago one of her dearly beloved great grand children named her "Grandma Tay," and that has grown to be her name to all her intimate friends and relatives; and how her bright, cheery smile and word of greeting will be missed by us all.

The funeral will be held at the Morris & Preston chapel June 14th at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Altman will have charge. She will be laid to rest in beautiful Oakwood.

IS REMODELLING CEMENT PLANT

Son of Dixon Man Has Big Task At Humbolt, Kas.

The following, concerning a son of F. W. Klossowski of this city, from the Cement News and Engineering Journal, will be of interest to many friends of the young man:

T. J. Klossowski, cement mill engineer, is now in Humbolt, Kas., remodeling the Monarch Cement company plant, putting in a complete coal installation clinker handling equipment, entirely new raw and clinker grinding department including the big hammer mills and largest size tube mills, new sacking department and other improvements. This work is now practically completed and enables the plant to run on coal, oil or gas, whichever proves most economical at the time.

CAN PUT COAL TAR TO MANIFOLD USES

CHEMISTS UTILIZE MANY SO-CALLED WASTE PRODUCTS

Commercial Manufacture of Benzine is Made Possible

Nothing demonstrates the triumphs of modern scientific chemistry better than the innumerable uses to which coal tar is put. A century ago coal tar was considered a waste product, but today it enters into nearly every department of life. Not only has chemistry put to a multitude of uses this "waste" product, but through it and its derivations a number of other formerly considered waste products have been utilized.

A wide range of colors, various burning and lubricating oils, asphalt, photographic developers, medicines, flavors and perfumes are all made partly from substances derived from coal tar, as are dyes and dress material, colored paper and some foods.

Before gas was introduced as a new light a century ago, Frederick Accum, who wrote one of the first books on gas lighting suggested the boiling of the tar in a still, and the condensation and collection of the volatile products. The experiment was made and the process yielded two oils. One was heavy and the other light. It was soon found that the heavy could be satisfactorily used as a preservative for wood that had to be fixed underground or submerged in water and was used extensively in preserving piers and wharfs.

Further experiments with the lighter oil were made by a Scotch chemist, Macintosh, who used it in waterproofing the clothing which still bears his name. It also is used as a solvent in varnish making and as coal naphtha for lighting. Experiments with naphtha disclosed a rich treasury of colors which for centuries had been locked up in coal and its refuse—tar. Benzine was extracted from naphtha and this in turn produced the different shades of violet, green, blue and yellow. Later another chemist made the commercial manufacture of benzine possible. He was experimenting on the artificial production of quinine, and using a base known as aniline, obtained coloring matter called mauve.

This laid the foundation for the coal tar color industry which has developed until today almost every color and shade of color is derived from aniline. Aniline had been obtained previously from the indigo plant anil. The discovery of mauve created a large demand for the artificial aniline base, and gave unexpected value to benzine. It yielded aniline by being treated with nitric acid and with the borings of cast iron powdered into dust.

Having done its work in the aniline still, the dust was used by the gas maker to cleanse his coal gas from the sulphur and then it passed to the manufacturing chemist, who burned the sulphur out of it and produced sulphuric acid—a cycle of operations whose beginning and end was the utilization of waste.

This method of producing color was responsible for the desolate madder fields of France and Holland and for the loss to the Hindus of their long cherished indigo cultivation. Anthracene, one of the heavier oils of coal tar, caused the fall of the madder-growing industry. The madder produced violets, reds, blacks, purples, and dark browns. Anthracene was sold very cheaply for lubricating purposes until certain chemists heated it with zinc filings and produced alizarin and then the secret of the madder plant was discovered.

In this way chemistry displaced agriculture, one pound of alizarin having the coloring power of ninety pounds of madder, and the lubricating oil sold at a trifle as waste became valuable coloring matter worth $500 a ton, thereby creating a vast industry.

In medicine and surgery coal tar has worked wonders. Saccharin, many hundred times the sweetening power of sugar is used by diabetic patients. Carbolice acid is separated from the oil of coal tar by successive distillations, and in surgical operations a spray of germ killing carbolice acid is used. Quinoline, antipyrine and other fever assauegers are made from coal tar and various antiseptics and food preservatives also are obtained from it.

Vanilla flavoring for cooking, which formerly was prepared from a bean, can now be obtained from the vanillin of the gas works, and even this vanillin can be made into a heliotrope perfume by adding oil of almonds, while the latter can be produced by treating benzine with an acid. Huge quantities of this oil are used in the making of scented soaps.

Device Prevents Accidents

A valuable invention designed to prevent accidents to telephones and telephone users from lightning has been perfected by a Dallas, Texas, man. The device is called a combined lightning arrester and telephone cut out. The inventor says that it can be manufactured cheaply and he has been informed by the Washington authorities that his invention is a very useful and important one.

Mrs. T. Veith was visited Thursday by her daughter, Mrs. Della Warshaw and her daughters, Mrs. Etta Becker and Ida North and their children; also Mr. Harry Marshang and baby.

LIFE DIARY OF MRS. WEAVER

Her Experience Was a Very Sad One.

NEVER AGAIN FOR MARTHA.

She Brings Shame and Ridicule Upon Herself—Husband a Willing Accomplice—They Both Were Taught a Lesson That Will Last Them Their Entire Lifetime.

(Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.) Do not judge from mere appearances, for the light laughter that bubbles on the lip often mingles over the depth of sadness, and the serious look may be the sober veil that covers a divine peace and joy. The bosom may ache beneath diamond brooches, and many a blithe heart dances under coarse wool.

Assuming the above to be true, we will proceed to tear a page from the life diary of Mrs. Weaver and present it to our readers.

That New Suit.

"What am I going to do about that new suit I must have?" said Martha Weaver to her husband as he came in from work one evening.

"Why is there any question about that? Go to Hopkins & Co. and get what you need. If you need a suit get it," answered her husband.

"I have looked there," replied Martha, "but they haven't anything that I want. I just need a simple suit, but I want good material, and it must be neatly and well made, one that I could use for almost any occasion. I would prefer a ready made suit, but those that Hopkins & Co. have appear to be made of poor, flimsy material, and they are decked out with such cheap, flashy, dowdy trimming that I just cannot bear to wear them," replied Martha.

The False Step.

"Well, what do you want to do—run into the city and get you a suit?" asked John.

"No. That does not suit me either, for when I have to pay my fare, my hotel bill and other incidental expenses it makes the cost too high and also takes more time than I can spare for the purchase of one suit," said Martha. "Could you not order one? Didn't I see some mail order catalogues around here awhile ago?" asked the interested husband.

"Yes; I could do that, but I am almost afraid to risk it. Still, their styles appear to be good, and the prices quoted seem reasonable. I have been thinking about doing that. I will look them up again and see what I can do," answered Martha.

Martha's Heart Sank.

Martha had little difficulty in "looking up" the catalogue, as the house seemed full of them, and after critically examining the suit pictures a simple blue took her fancy. The description corresponded with her idea of what she wanted; the trimming looked neat and of good quality. The price was satisfactory, so after debating for some little time she decided to send for it. A draft was forwarded, and the long vigil pending the arrival of the suit was as depressing upon John as upon Martha.

At last it came—express bill and all—and eagerly the box was opened and the suit laid on the bed for inspection. It did not quite measure up to the proportions of the picture in the catalogue. The color was not good. There was too much coat and not enough skirt, and, besides, the skirt was not draped as the advertisement said. It just hung, and hung uneven at that. The work was not neat; the trimming was of cheap, showy quality, scant and inferior. Martha's heart sank to zero. She knew she would be ashamed to wear that suit at home, much less among her well dressed friends. What was she to do? She needed a suit badly, but she realized that to attempt an exchange would result as disastrously as in the first place, and she could ill afford another new one.

Defects More Pronounced.

The longer Martha had the suit the more numerous and pronounced became its defects, until at last her pride rebelled, and she refused longer to wear the miserable parody. She said she would much prefer to wear a "good" old suit than a "poor" new one. For with the poor new one she was conscious and ashamed when she felt any one looking at her or her suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver held a consultation, after which Mrs. Weaver declared that never again in her life would she buy anything from a picture or from a catalogue house.

"Amen," said John. "We have had our lesson. Had you bought that garment from any of our local merchants and it proved unsatisfactory he would have insisted on your exchanging it or refunding to you your money."

A certain father who is fond of putting his boys through natural-history examinations is often surprised by their mental agility. He recently asked them to tell him, "What animal is satisfied with the least amount of nourishment?"

A little girl, five years old, was making her first visit at her grandfather's in the country. In the home that she left were papa and mamma, brother and sister. In the home where she was visiting were grandpa, grandma, uncle and auntie. The child faithfully mentioned each one in her evening prayer until one evening she became weary of the monotonous roll-call and after naming two or three, closed with the comprehensive petition, "God bless all hands around."—Harper's Magazine.

MAN WHO ENDED BIG DITCH AID IS DEAD

Judge Richard Burke Probable Banquet Soup Victim.

Chicago, June 12.—Judge Richard E. Burke of the superior court, who won a spectacular victory in the recent judicial election, died at his home, 421 South Central Park avenue. His death, coming so soon after a triumphant campaign for re-election, is indirectly attributed to poison contracted from soup served at the banquet to Archbishop Mundelein at the University club Feb. 10. His death is the second to which the soup poisoning—of which the missing Jean Cranes was accused—is said to have been contributory. Andrew J. Graham, banker, was the first victim.

The passing of Judge Burke, who was uncommonly popular with bench and bar as well as with political associates, cast depression upon the courts and offices of the county building. A meeting of judges was called by Judge Foell to consider appropriate action.

Judge Burke was a former member of the Illinois General Assembly, and acquired note by stopping the payment of money for the operation of the Illinois-Michigan canal—which has virtually been out of commission since. While his action won approval in many quarters, there has lately come a growing demand for a part rehabilitation of the big ditch, called in derision at the time of the injunction, the "tadpole ditch."

FIND INDIAN FIREPLACE OF AN EXTINCT TRIBE

Probable Spot Where Algonquians Held Sacrifice of White Dogs to Wipe Out Their Sins

Authorities on Indian relics at Rochester, N. Y., are interested in the recent discovery on the shore of Owaseo Lake of Algonquin remains, made by Arthur C. Parker, State archaeologist, especially in the finding of the site of a fireplace. The fireplace was the spot where the red men hundreds of years ago held their religious ceremony of the sacrifice of the white dog.

Alvin H. Dewey who has probably the finest collection of Indian relics in this section agrees with Mr. Parker that the fireplace is one of the most valuable discoveries connected with Indian life yet made in this country.

"Algonquin relics are not very plentiful," said Mr. Dewey. "When a real village site is brought to view the excavation becomes very interesting."

The spot where a religious ceremony took place is especially so, as these discoveries are the only history we have of the Algonquians, who undoubtedly were the prehistoric people of America."

Mr. Dewey added that the discovery strengthened the belief before held by students of Indian lore that the sacrifice of the white dog was practiced by the red men of all tribes for centuries.

The sacrificing of the white dog was to the Indians the most important of their religious ceremonies. It was celebrated annually. On the first day of the ceremony an Indian runner, or orier would go through the village and give notice that it was to take place. It was then the time for the people to purify themselves from sins committed through the year. When they had assembled the priest or medicine man would figuratively take the sins of the people and lay them on white dogs two or three of them. This act, it was believed, cleansed the people as a whole from their sins.

The dogs were then strangled with due ceremony, but not a drop of blood could be shed in the killing. The carcasses were placed on a pyramid of wood and a fire was started. While the bodies of the dogs were being consumed, the people called on the Great Spirit to forgive their sins. At a later period imitation dogs were used by the Indians.

Mr. Parker, who is conducting the excavations is a post graduate of Harvard University and a recognized authority on matters pertaining to Indians.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of haggard, anemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Dixon Readers
For months Dixon citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Dixon residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Dixon reader.

B. A. Worley, blacksmith, Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "The action of my kidneys was irregular and annoying and my back ached after using Doan's Kidney Pills, the pains left my back and my kidneys became regular in action." (Statement given May 21, 1912.)

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Worley said: "Whenever my back gets lame and sore and I need a kidney medicine, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. They give me relief."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Worley has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.

HELD FOR SLAYING RIVAL

Monkena, Ill., Man Kills Husband of His Enamored.

Chicago, June 12.—Robert Yonkey of Monkena has been held to the grand jury, charged with the murder of Nicholas Carlson. A letter written by Mrs. Carlson to Yonkey was produced. She told him she loved him, and that if she had money enough she would leave Carlson and join Yonkey, "never to be separated from him." Yonkey called at the Carlson home 1340 West Ohio street. Carlson accused him of making love to Mrs.
 Carlson, Yonkey says, and attacked him. Yonkey then used his knife in self-defense, he says.

Springfield, Ill., June 12.—A goal for 1,000 adult Bible classes in Illinois in the year 1916 was set here by the organized Adult Bible Class Federation, which had its inception at Peoria last March. Affiliation with the Illinois Sunday School Association was accomplished, followed by a banquet.

C. E. Schenck of Chicago, assistant general secretary, was made secretary of the State Sunday School Association, to succeed Hugh Cork of Chic-go, resigned.

BAD ACOUSTICS ARE CORRECTEDCURE IS FOUND FOR ROARING AND ECHOING HALLS

Jinx of Speech, Singer, Actor and Musician Now Dispelled by Methodical Treatment.

How often do we hear in public hall or theater, such remarks as "Can't hear half he says," "She's singing out of tune," or "What's the matter with the orchestra?" when the fact is there is nothing wrong with the speaker, singer or the players, or wouldn't be if the acoustic properties of the auditorium were not in discord. Bad acoustics is generally the first critical discovery made when a new hall is opened to the public, and usually the last fault to be remedied, or has been up to the present time. But now that science has found means to correct this fault it is likely that speakers, actors, singers and musicians will soon be spared conditions that heretofore have plunged them into the depths of gloom and worry.

From Fresno, Cal., comes a report that scientific correction of their Convention hall, intended to eliminate reverberation and conserve the clear voice tones so that an ordinary speaker can be heard in all parts of the auditorium, is in progress under the supervision of J. R. Crowley of Boston, Mass., an expert in acoustical matters.

The first process is that of covering the square, upper ceiling with tone absorbing felt an inch thick. Six hundred square yards will be used. When the felt has been applied and securely fastened, finely keyed wires will be used to control sound waves. Over this will be placed a thin mesh of cotton.
 A second covering of heavier cloth will be placed last and painted white to correspond with the plaster of the walls. This work will be done only to the square ceiling directly over the auditorium.

"In a room or auditorium having faulty acoustics we must absorb these sound waves as they strike the different barriers and prevent excessive reverberation being reflected upon the audience," said Mr. Crowley.

"The acoustics of many buildings are palpably so bad that architects and owners have resorted to various schemes to prevent echoes and reverberations. Among these schemes are the stringing of wires, placing of canvas and sounding boards over the back of the speaker and promiscuous hanging of curtains, etc. These are utterly without value and many experienced architects have seen so much money wasted by these methods that they are extremely skeptical in regard to any plan proposed.

"By scientific experiments it has been determined that every known material used in the construction of the inside of an auditorium or room has a certain co-efficient of sound energy absorption.
 "From these co-efficients it is very easy to determine the total units of absorption of the material within the room. After the total units of absorption are found and the volume of the room in cubic meters, one can determine accurately the duration of the residual sound, that is the length of time the atmospheric vibrations continue in a room after the source of sound has ceased.

"Now it has been determined that in order to have proper acoustic properties within a room we must have a limit to the duration of the residual sound. In a room used for speaking it should not be more than 1.5. In a room for music, not over 2. Therefore if a room has a duration of residual sound exceeding this time, the room has faulty acoustics, and it is very certain that the excess reverberations must cause confusion in some part or parts of such room.

"The problem to solve is how to kill this excess reverberation (muffle or absorb the excess residual sound) and thus make the acoustic properties correct."

DEVICE FOR STOPPING TRAINS

Patent is Sought on New Automatic Appliance

A Newark, N. J., man has applied for a patent on an automatic device for stopping trains. The principle of the device is such, the inventor claims, that when a train enters a signal block it sets mechanism so that a train following it is brought to a stop provided its speed exceeds a predetermined rate. If, by a misdeed, or switch reversed so as to derail a train, the device, the inventor says, will automatically stop the train within about 500 yards of the point of danger.

THROWS CURVES WITH SPEED

Mechanical Ball Hurler, Just Invented, Said to Be a Wonder.

Dan Handelman, inventor of the baseball courts, has just completed a machine which will take the place of a pitcher. The outfit, which will be portable will be set up in the pitcher's box. It will be electrically operated from the bench by the manager. It will pitch any kind of a curve, a fast or slow ball, and will throw to any of the bases instantly. The machine is said to be about ready for public inspection.

 gether.

CHEAP POWER PROMISED BY MISSOURI INVENTOR

New Scheme to Utilize Energy of River's Current or Tide Waves of Ocean

George W. Johnston of St. Joseph, Mo., has invented a submerged compressed air power plant, which he claims will supplant steam in generating electricity for propelling heavy machinery and furnishing light, heat and power for general purposes.

The object of this invention is to generate power from the current of a stream or the tidal waves of the ocean for the purpose of condensing air with compressors, designed to operate in the channel of the water, the current being forced together by means of concrete wall of any artificial water course, with a series of compressors connected with discharge pipes to tanks on the bank.

The power of the contrivance is unlimited, and the inventor says it is possible to install a 1,000 horse power perpetual plant anywhere along the Missouri River for less than $5,000, and that St. Joseph can be supplied with electricity for lighting, heating, cooking and power purposes at a nominal cost.

Johnston furthermore asserts that he can protect valuable bottom land from the ravages of the Missouri river by turning its course by means of his discovery, and that power can be furnished the St. Joseph packing plants at the cost of lubrication after his system is installed, simply by laying mains to the boilers, thus doing away with the expense of fuel.

Johnston has a smaller power device made on the same principle which can be run into the river or stream on steel rails resting on floating piers until the machinery is submerged and anchored to the bottom by its own weight. This plant may be mounted on a flat car and carried to any river or seaport. The devices of lesser power, the inventor says, can be used by farmers near small streams for irrigating or operating farm machinery, lighting and heating houses and barns at small cost.

He is now equipping an automobile for demonstration purposes and he expects to have a boat ready soon for trial on the Missouri River.

SWITCHBOARD CAN TIME LONG DISTANCE TALKS

Iowa Inventor Adds Another to His Numerous Patented Telephone Devices

E. H. Martin of Webster City, Iowa, inventor of a telephone meter which is now being manufactured in Des Moines, has just received a granted patent upon a telephone switchboard device. The invention is a device for long distance phonings, which automatically calls the attention of the talker and the operator to the fact that the time is up.

The mechanism works as follows:
 When the long distance operator sees the conversation has started she pushes a button any pays no further attention to the conversation until a small lamp in that particular cord circuit lights at the time the call is fixed to expire. The device may be arranged for booth work or for heavy toll users in their homes or offices.

This is the seventh invention patented in the last few years by Mr.
 Martin, practically all inventions having been along the line of telephone improvement.

SHOWS NEW GASOLINE ENGINE

Michigan Man's Device Proves Success at Tryout

A new gasoline engine invented by Frederick E. Rupright of Traverse City, Mich., and recently given a tryout before a number of business men of that city acts the same as a steam engine and is entirely different from any other gasoline engine. It has two cylinders with three pistons in each, connecting up with a single rod. With two cylinders and two cranks, it is possible to double the explosions. The motion of the engine is governed by air. It has a pulling power that cannot be produced by any other make of engine, it is said. It has fewer parts, weighs less by half than any other make and delivers one third more power from the same amount of gasoline.

One feature of the engine is that it has no compression to fight against the firing cylinder, thus giving it all the power of its explosions.

INVENTS DERAILING DEVICE

Automatically Opens and Closes Railway Sidings

An automatic derailling device for use on railway sidings has just been patented by Bert C. Blanton, a young Dallasite employed in the engineering department of the Texas & Pacific Railway and is to be presented to the lines at once with the idea of having them adopt it. Mr. Blanton has a miniature model of the device consisting of a section of track three feet long with three inch gauge, and a freight car operating on it.

The device is designed to allow a train to enter the siding without interference, but to prevent it from passing out without first throwing the derail, which automatically closes again after the train has passed. A signal lamp is attached to the device, which is said by those who have examined it to be of a practical and useful nature.

To prove their stability, London's motorbuses are put thru a series of tilting tests before they are allowed to serve the public.

Subscribers in the city may pay the carrier boy for the Telegraph each week. Or if they prefer, may call at our office and take care of same.
